

LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

Kaspersky Lab

Vadim Karasev

Head of Platform OS Development Unit

08 July 2026

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to recommend Alexander Iakovlev, who worked as a Software Developer at Kaspersky Lab from November 2021 to July 2023. As Head of Platform OS Development, I had direct visibility into his work and contribution throughout this period.

Alexander contributed to the development of KasperskyOS — a microkernel operating system with a Cyber Immunity architecture — working on security-critical components and also supporting adjacent teams within the broader project.

He demonstrated strong technical expertise in modern C++, systems programming, cryptography, and secure software development — including static analysis, unit testing, and mandatory peer code review. He is a reliable, responsible, and self-directed engineer who consistently delivered solutions to complex technical challenges.

I wholeheartedly recommend Alexander Iakovlev and am confident he would be a great asset to any technical team he joins.

Yours sincerely,

Vadim Karasev
